LET SUMMER BEGIN
2016 CHINOOK ROSÉ

For the 19th straight year, Chinook Rosé is a great way to begin summer. The 2016 Chinook Cabernet Franc Rosé is 100% Yakima Valley fruit, crushed specifically to be rosé (not bled off-saignée) and you can taste it. Recalling bing cherries right off the tree, there is a slightly tart, but deliciously fruit filled taste—a touch of that summery flavor.

VISITS AT THE SHOPS
2015 KEVIN WHITE REDS

The 2015 Kevin White Red 'La Fraternité' is a blend of 60% Grenache, 33% Mourvèdre, and 7% Syrah from Upland and Boushey Vineyards, and is a lively wine with aromatic layers of strawberries, raspberries, and violets. The 2015 Kevin White Syrah 'En Hommage' is 100% Syrah from Olsen Estates, Elephant Mountain Vineyard, and Boushey Vineyard, and shows flavors of blueberries, violets, black currants, and plums. As always, these are exceptional values.

BENANTI - MOUNT ETNA

The vineyards of Benanti are located on the northern, eastern, and southern slopes of Sicily's Etna volcano, with the crus coming from these hillsides. In 1988, Giuseppe Benanti began a five-year study into local varieties, soils, and wine-making techniques, determining the ideal conditions for the Nerello Mascalese, Nerello Cappuccio, and Carricante grape varieties. Today the winery farms about 30 acres, producing close to 13,000 cases annually. Come in and sample these wines on Saturday, July 22nd at both shops.

WINE OF THE MONTH 2016 POGGIO LA NOCE BÀJA

The grapes for the 2016 Poggio La Noce Falanghina 'Bàja' are grown in the Campi Flegrei area outside of Naples, in a vineyard located near the sea. 'Bàja' shows mineral notes, juicy fruitiness, and a splash of the saltiness of the sea. The soils are volcanic and sandy, with a strong presence of ash and lapilli. The vines are 25 to 50 year-old Falanghina grapes. (We can also comment that the label design is beautiful!)

FEATURED WINES: VINHO VERDE - PORTUGAL

The Vinho Verde wine region, beginning just south of the Portuguese-Spanish border, is a group of nine sub-regions in the Douro Valley. Each has a unique micro-climate on mostly granitic soils. White Vinho Verde is very fresh and fruity with floral aromas, and shows lots of natural acidity, depending on the grape varieties used. The wines are lemon-straw in color, and usually made from local grape varieties—Loureiro, Arinto, Trajadura, Avesso, and Azal. Lower alcohols, ranging from 8.5% to 11%, are what make them great for summer sipping.

JERMANN

Silvio Jermann and his son Michele produce wine at two wineries, the Cantina di Villanova and Cantina di Ruttars, near the Italian border with Slovenia. The Jermann estate comprises 400 acres of vines, organically farmed in the regions of Moraro, Farra d'Isonzo, and Dolegna del Collio.

2016 LE GALANTIN ROSÉ

Domaine le Galantin farms 30 hectares of terraced vineyards located in Le Plan du Castellet in the tiny appellation of Bandol, located directly on the Mediterranean coast, just east of Marseille. Everything is hand harvested. It is a blend of 55% Mourvèdre, with the rest equally divided between Cinsault and Grenache. A complex nose of red fruits and citrus leads to a dry, blood orange flavored rosé that is perfect with summer grilled foods—from seafood to steaks.

ALBARIÑO

Extended contact on the fine lees creates richly textured, exotic Albariños showing hints of tree fruits—peach and apricots. A salty sea breeze flavor and a mouthwatering mineral finish make it the perfect wine for clams and mussels. Two well respected wines are now in the market. The 2015 Do Ferriero Albariño shows a very juicy, lightly citrusy style. The 2015 Eidos de Padriñan Albariño has a more mineral style, with lots of bright acidity.

TERRE NERE BIANCO 'VIGNE NICHE'

Two new cru whites from Tenuta delle Terre Nere, 'Calderara Sottana' and 'Santo Spirito', are produced from 100% Carricante grapes from young and old vines. Carricante is a rare commodity in this D.O.C. overwhelmingly devoted to reds, accounting for only 4% of the appellation. Both wines are barrel-fermented and aged in large oak barrels. They have a creamy texture and work exceptionally well with Northwest seafoods. Less than 60 bottles of each were allocated to the Northwest.

2014 J.L. CHAVE 'MON COEUR'

Jean-Louis Chave produces their Côtes-du-Rhône 'Mon Coeur' from eight vineyards in the areas of Valreas, Visan, Buisson, and Estargues. Low yields and high quality define the fruit they demand. The color is one's first clue—a deep dark violet hue on the edges. The aroma shows violets, tapenade, with a touch of cassis and blackcurrant. The flavor is cool fruits—blueberries and caneberrries. The intense flavor recalls fine Syrah from the North, yet this is all Southern fruit. It is a stellar value at $25, and a great wine for summer sipping.

2015 GRAILLOT CROZES-HERMITAGE

Alain & Maxime Graillet owns 50 acres of 30-year-old Crozes-Hermitage vines on the flat lands between the Rhône and Isère river. Made with 100% Syrah, the wine is aged in 1-3 year old barrels, purchased from Burgundy houses. It is powerfully Syrah, with game and minerals, a salty note, and lots of red currant flavor. This is a great wine for serving with grilled meats.
